Applying for Admission
Syracuse University uses the Common Application exclusively. You’ll apply directly to one of nine undergraduate colleges or to a dual/combined program within two colleges. For information about transferring to Syracuse University, visit admissions.syr.edu/transferstudents.

Application Deadlines
> Early Decision   November 15
> Regular Decision  January 1
> Spring Admission (first-year or transfer) November 15*
> Transfer Admission (fall)    July 1*

Note: An Early Admission option is also available for eligible high school juniors. Contact the Admissions Office for information. Federal financial aid is not available for students admitted under the Early Admission plan.

*Applications received after this deadline will be considered on a space-available basis.

How Your Application is Evaluated
> Academic performance, including your senior year accomplishments, participation in advanced coursework, and standardized test scores.
> Via your personal essay, your goals, interests, experiences, and values.
> Evaluation from your guidance counselor and two academic teacher recommendations that convey a sense of your unique gifts, capabilities, and accomplishments.
> Strength of character and exemplary citizenship through after-school activities, volunteer work, or employment.

Apply today at admissions.syr.edu/apply.

Financing Your Education
Approximately 75% of Syracuse University students receive some form of financial support, mostly from institutional aid, but also from federal, state, or private sources.

When you apply for admission, you will automatically be considered for merit-based scholarships, which are awarded regardless of need. Most merit awards are for academic achievement and talent, as well as for students demonstrating outstanding community involvement and/or leadership.

You may also be eligible for assistance from federal sources, including the Pell Grant, TEACH Grant, Work-Study, and Supplemental Educational Opportunity Program, as well as Federal Direct Student Loans and Federal Direct Plus Loans (for parents).

Other possible aid sources include funding from your home state, private resources, and scholarships from outside the University.

The information concerning academic requirements, courses, and programs of study contained in the publication does not constitute an irrevocable contract between the student and the University. The University reserves the right to change, discontinue, or add academic requirements, courses, and programs of study. Such changes may be made without notice, although every effort will be made to provide timely notice to students. It is the responsibility of the individual student to confirm that all appropriate degree requirements are met.

Syracuse University is chartered by the New York State Board of Regents and accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, 3624 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104; 267-284-5000. Professional accreditation for each of the professional colleges and schools accords with the regulations of the appropriate professional association. For further information, contact the dean’s office of each school or college.

It is Syracuse University’s policy to provide anyone, on request, with a printed copy of the University’s policies and procedures regarding campus security and safety, as well as crime rates and statistics for the most recent three-year period. A copy of your Safety and Security at Syracuse University, a handbook that provides this information, is available from the Syracuse University Department of Public Safety (DPS). You may request a printed copy that includes crime statistics, to be mailed within 10 days of a request, by contacting the Department of Public Safety/Advisory Committee on Campus Security at 005 Sims Hall, Syracuse, NY, 13244, or by calling 315-443-5476. The handbook is updated annually. DPS/Advisory Committee on Campus Safety will provide upon request all campus crime statistics as reported to the United States Department of Education (website: http://ope.ed.gov/security/).
